

THE MARITIME Economist

Connecting Academia and Professionals

December 2014 | Vol. I

Well-marked & Concise

INPLAIN

Scholarly knowledge in plain language

How to choose a port in an everchanging environment

Voice of scholars,

professionals and young generation

FreshMINDS

Future of Ships & Shipping

Profession & Practice

Managing Ports in Waves

CHALLENGE

Self-Serving Science: Academic Puzzle

How to choose a port in an everchanging environment

Name, Affiliation

This section will invite (or call for submissions) scholars to tell their work in plain language.

“If you can't explain it simply,
you don't understand it well enough.”

Albert Einstein

Short bio note

Photo

email

Future of Ships & Shipping

Name, Affiliation

This section will invite (or call for submissions) young scholars to tell their work in plain language. We want to attract young front-runners to tell their change-making/ innovative research, and they easily come in front. Normally we should wait for a long review and publication processes. However, this section gives an opportunity of sharing studies before journal publication in short and simple versions.

Young scholars can reach a broad audience and attract others to join their study or find collaboration opportunities.

Short bionote

Photo

email

Managing Ports in Waves

Name, Affiliation

This section will invite (or call for submissions) professionals in the business and industry to tell their common problems, solutions, strategies etc. People in the industry are motivated and encouraged for R&D activities and asked for sharing a bit of their perspective.

“Port management should be dynamic and innovative. For this, we spend most of our time for research and development”

Short bio note

Photo

email

Self-Serving Science: Academic Puzzle

Name, Affiliation

This section will invite (or call for submissions) scholars to tell their unorthodox perspective and analysis. We hope this section provokes more discussions and contribute to the improvement and criticism of academic works.

In addition to above objective, this section gives opportunity to open discussions on a subject or a current debate.

Short bio note

Photo

email

Birth of a Society:

IAME is being established...

1992 to 1994

This section is for the story of IAME. In every issue, we will proceed to complete historical items. Finally, we may publish all stuff in a book.

New President and Council

This section is for some official announcements. We can also present news from IAME conferences.

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION of
MARITIME ECONOMISTS

The leading society on Maritime Economics and Business Management

JOIN US TODAY!

The International Association of Maritime Economists (IAME) is an international forum for the exchange of research and information among those interested in maritime and maritime-related issues.

For membership

www.mar-economists.org/membership

